No. 07-3-01713-1

Declaration of Heather Wood: In RE Motion to Terminate Restraints Patra Vogt's Declaration.

I, Heather Wood, am a US citizen over the age of 18, and a resident in the State of Washington; the facts that I have provided on this form are true.

I am Heather Wood, 53 years old and Mother of Adeline 16.5 years old.

In my declaration, I only listed first names, and Patra who revealed her own identity by filing official documents with their surname included, otherwise, would have remained anonymous. It is my right AND responsibility to state the truth in support of my position in the Proposed Parenting Plan, 07-3-01713-1. To denigrate me, and claim to not have spent time with me in an official document, and to deny relating personal experience between Patra and Lenard either demonstrates Patra's own lack of memory or lack of honesty. I was not specific in my declaration, but now I will be much more specific.

Patra liked me and trusted me well enough that she hired me to work successfully at her house cleaning business up until I had the baby. I cleaned house for a well-to-do man out near Poulsbo, as I recall. He said the worst sound to him was the sound of a crying baby, so I did not clean for him after I had given birth to Adeline. I have been hiking with Patra and her husband and their dog Greta a few times, and was introduced to Petra's mini donkey, Suki, I think her name is. ~16 years ago.

Patra talked to me about Lenard several times: 1. One time she was upset with Lenard for crawling in her living room window to wait for her uninvited, perched on her couch when she came home. Patra told me It freaked her out - she found it highly inappropriate. Patra said she had a chat with him for breaking into her home while she was absent, and surprising her as she walked into her own home. 2. Patra also told me she was concerned about Lenard's mental health concerning his hoarding items, and his difficulty parting with anything he had chosen to purchase. The whole gang was trying to help him clean out his abandoned trailer and do a yard sale, but he is a hoarder. 3. Patra, in our short time knowing each other, managed to tell the story of Lenard gifting her a sexy wedding gift for her to wear on her nuptial flight night to Lenard's pal she was about to marry. Patra was telling me again, with what I interpreted as concern for his sexual inappropriateness, that he gifted her the thrift store lingerie while the two sat alone in a vehicle together. I would not be clarifying here if it weren't for Patra's denials, name calling, and claiming not to have known me well at all. 4. Patra's husband wrote a song that I have listened to with my own ears with lyrics describing "L-Ray" and his propensity to take people on dangerous outings where unwanted incidents often happened. Patra and I did not know each other that well over a long period of time, but long enough for her to have discussed Lenard with me, and to trust me enough to hire me to enter others' upper echelon homes to clean. The only things Lenard reported to me about Patra is that she was going into that van with those people after the gigs where they do bad things, and later, Patra kept dating the abusive guy who threatened suicide all the time. Lenard worried about her hanging out with other possibly dangerous guys after she and his friend divorced for alcoholism, drug abuse, and associated problems. I do worry about the friend group that Lenard exposes my daughter to - let alone, Lenard's behaviors possibly due to his well-documented brain damage or developmental disability. Let's get the medical records.

Patra states her opinion that my expressing concerns with things his friend group has said about him demonstrates " Ms. Wood has mental instability, willing to lie and involve others in those lies to further her fantasy world as it pertains to raising her daughter." While Patra, who is far from a professional mental health expert, and while claiming to not know me but as a stranger, offers to diagnose me in order to further Lenard and Adeline's common agenda to get custody from me – by denigration instead of proving the fitness of Lenard. To this I object.

I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the state of Washington and pursuant to General Court Rule 13 and RCW 9A.72.085 that the foregoing is true and correct.
