12 V. PROCEDURAL HISTORY

13 During the 1930s, the United States of America was facing the Great Depression, a time when poverty
14 was universal. On August 14th, 1935, President Franklin D. Roosevelt signed the Social Security Act 15 (SSA) into law (42 U.S.C. ch. 7). This Act became law at such a difficult time in our history when the 16 nation needed a solution for poverty, unemployment, and the burdens of widows and fatherless 17 children. It was a great initiative by the Federal Government to advocate federal assistance for the 18 needy. Signing this Act into law was historic and in good faith. In 1975, the Federal Government 19 enacted the Child Support Enforcement and Paternity Establishment Program (CSE). This act was put 20 in place to not only pursue a parent who was responsible for the financial support of a child, but to also 21 establish paternity for a child who is born outside of marriage, so child support can be collected from 22 the biological father. The Law also amended the Social Security Act (Title IV, part D), authorizing 23 Federal matching funds for enforcement purposes. The States are the primary administrators of the 24 CSE program, but the Federal Government serves to direct and help the states. However, States are 25 required to meet certain federal standards to receive the block grant funding. When the program was

1 first established, its goals were to reimburse the states and the federal government for the welfare
2 payments they provided families. The CSE program was intended to help strengthen families by 3 securing financial support for children on a consistent and continuing basis and by helping some of 4 these families to remain self-sufficient and off public assistance. However, over the years, few sections 5 of this law became outdated, mismanaged or abused. It was found by the preponderance of the 6 evidence that the civil rights of many Americans from different states, faiths, genders, races, and 7 backgrounds have been violated. Furthermore, it appears that the CSE program has indirectly led to 8 the breakup and the weakening of the American family by creating many single-parent households.
9 The American family is the core foundation of this nation. Undermining the American family would 10 undermine the nation as a whole. America is a nation under GOD that promises liberty and justice for 11 all. It appears that the States have enacted laws that are in violation of the United States Constitution, 12 Articles, and Amendments by denying equal due process to parents in an effort to maximize the 13 federal incentive to enforce child support by limiting children contacts with their parents. Parental 14 rights are human rights that are given by GOD the Creator. No state can deprive any person of life, 15 liberty or property without due process of law nor deny any person the equal protection of the laws.
16 States have also been incarcerating parents who are unable to pay child support even though debtors'
17 prison was outlawed in 1833. "The Due Process Clause" is a restraint on the legislative as well as on 18 the executive and judicial powers of the government, and cannot be so construed as to leave congress 19 free to make any process "due process of law," by its mere will.

20 VI. CONCLUSION AND RELIEF

21 The Social Security Act was enacted into law in good faith. However after 83 years of its 22 implementation, it should be reformed to conform with the changing time and to the current needs of 23 the American people.
